Northeastern U.S. Conference on Disability- 2005- Present

I have been intricately involved in the planning of this conference since I began in 2005, either serving as the chair or co-chair. This is a regional conference, bringing in national level speakers and has an audience of 1200-1500 individuals with disabilities, family members, and service providers. Additionally, I have organized the evening speaker presentations which draws an annual audience of 500 University of Scranton students and community members. Conference meetings start in the spring and run all summer and fall. I have been regularly involved in coordinating all aspects of the conference, from planning and inviting the program speakers, to marketing, fundraising, all logistics (room set up, vendors, registration, etc.), evaluation, and CEU procurement.
